A LATE SUMMER SUNSET - CAN THE AUTUMN BE FAR BEHIND?

VOLUME 2 - ISSUE 9 - SEPTEMBER 2014

Joanne Millichamp
President

Our first anniversary fast approaches

As I write this, the Labour Day weekend is just around the corner, holidays are coming to a close and summer will soon be a distant memory. It is certainly true that "time flies by while you're having fun" and our first Probus year is almost over.

September 17th will be our first AGM and my last meeting as President. Please read over the By-Laws sent out earlier this month, as there will be a vote to accept them at the meeting.

Our first Anniversary Dinner will be held on Friday 26 September at the Grand Chalet. The last chance to sign up is at the September meeting. Thanks to Jeanne Reid and her committee of Christy Babcock and Lorrette Shermet for all their hard work in planning this event.

Please note the change of date for Guess Who's Coming to Dinner? The date has been switched to Saturday 25 October.

Thank you to everyone who volunteered this year, whether it was for the 50/50 draw, helping with coffee or acting as greeters at the meeting. To the Conveners, thank you so much for all your efforts in establishing all our interest groups. And, a special thank you to all the members of the Management Team for your hard work in making our Club such a success.

Now that you're back in the swing of things, try these!

By Liz Read - Activities Chair

The Hundred-Foot Journey

3.5 out of 5 stars

PG
122 Minutes

Coming Soon!

Two Movie Clubs

Watch for information in your FORUM and on your email

The Hundred-Foot Journey has feel-good themes of multicultural understanding. It even comes with the stamp of approval from Oprah Winfrey and Steven Spielberg, who both serve as producers.

There's something familiar about this movie.

Films like "The Cider House Rules," "Chocolat" and "The Shipping News", all films by Swedish director Lasse Hallstrom.

Hallstrom is the director here and the similarities to "Chocolat" are inescapable. Stop me if you've heard this one: A family moves into a quaint but closed-minded French village and shakes things up with an enticing array of culinary delicacies. This new enterprise happens to sit across the street from a very conservative restaurant.

But despite being handsomely crafted, well acted and even enjoyable, The Hundred-Foot Journey is also conventional and predictable. For a film that's all about opening up your senses and sampling spicy, exotic tastes, this comic drama is, I think, a little bland.

What livens things up though, is the interplay between Helen Mirren and Om Puri as battling restaurant owners operating across the street from each other, 100 feet away from each other to be exact. Watching these veteran actors stoop to sabotage each other provides a consistent source of laughs. She's all sharp angles, piercing looks and biting quips; he's all round joviality, boisterous blasts and warmhearted optimism. The contrast between the British Oscar-winner and the Indian acting legend offers the only tension in this otherwise soft and gooeey dish.

Mirren stars as Madame Mallory, owner of Le Saule Pleurer (The Weeping Willow), an elegant and expensive French restaurant that's the winner of one prestigious Michelin star. But one star isn't enough for the coldly driven Mme. Mallory, she wants another, and another.

But her quest for gourmet grandeur is interrupted by the arrival across the street of an Indian family, the Kadams, who've been wandering around Europe ever since their beloved restaurant back home burned down during political rioting. When the brakes on their car malfunction on a treacherous stretch of spectacular countryside, Papa (Puri) insists it's a sign from his late wife and decides to open a new eatery in the charming town at the bottom of the hill.

Never mind that one of the most celebrated restaurants in all of France is sitting right across the street from the empty building he rents. Never mind that they are in an insular part of the country where the residents probably don't even know what Indian cuisine is, much less like it, as his children point out. He has faith in his food, and in his son, a brilliant, young chef.

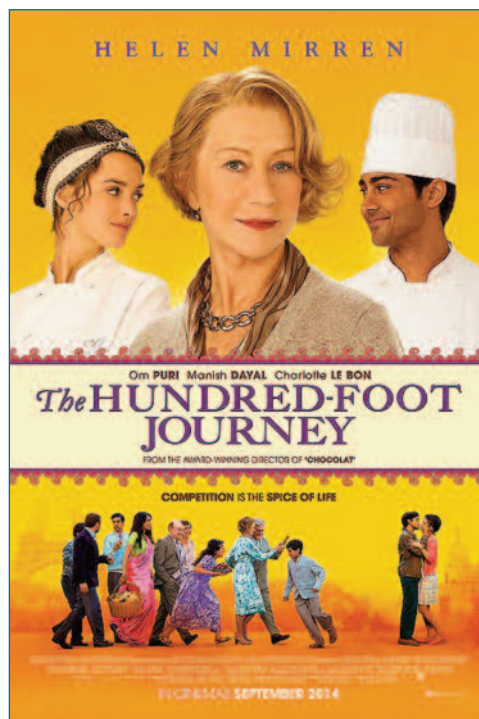

Just as Papa and Mme. Mallory strike up a sparky rivalry, Hassan enjoys a flirtatious relationship with French sous chef Marguerite, from across the road.

It all looks lovely, both the French and Indian dishes as well as the lush, rolling surroundings, which we see through all four seasons. This sweetly pleasing combination of ingredients would have been perfectly suitable if the film didn't take a wild detour in the third act.

As expat Brits, both Rosalind and I enjoyed the entertaining recipe of fun and food, so much so that we cancelled plans for supper at home and descended on our local Indian restaurant for a good curry.

Transparent story. Yes. Superb acting. Yes. Fabulous scenery. Yes. Another Michelin Star. No!

Great at the cinema. Better as a rental. 🇺🇸

? Guess Who's Coming to Dinner in the autumn? ?

Sign up now to join us for our first Guess Who's Coming to Dinner? on Saturday, October 25th. When you sign up let us know if you would like to be a guest or a host and how many people you can host at your home.

This will be a four-course dinner and everyone will make one part of the meal (soup - salad - veggies or dessert). The hosts make the entree and provide the wines for the evening. At the end of the evening the costs are split among all the dinner guests - usually in the $30-$35 per couple range.

We would consider this to be "fine dining" but not "gourmet" - i.e. not too much work - and you will be given a recipe to follow. We will get together at one location first for a cocktail party with wine and appetizers and after an hour you will be handed a map with the address of where you are going.

Neither the hosts nor the guests know who's going where . . . hence "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?" This will be a fun night and a chance to meet new people without the responsibility of making a whole meal by yourself.

Everyone is welcome, singles and couples.

For further information, contact: Auriel Halliday, 905-336-2430 or Joanne Millichamp, 289-878-2969

Bob Milne's Ragtime Tea

Join us as we enjoy one of the world's greatest performers of the Rag Time and Boogie-Woogie piano styles. You will NOT be disappointed!

Bob Milne's natural ability to hear and play music goes back to his early childhood. He makes the statement, "I knew how to play a piano long before I ever started. Just push down the notes you hear and the instrument will play itself. Can't everyone do this?" He considers either looking at music or practicing to be "cheating."

Playing in concert halls since 1991, Mr. Milne plays worldwide every year. A comment often heard following one of his performances is, "unbelievable!"

WINE TASTING CLUB

Fondue truck stops us not

By Michael Hooker - Convenor

Both August tastings went off well, despite some “access” problems on Thursday at Auriel and Don’s – a truck driver tried to burn down the 401 with his load of cheese, plus ongoing problems around Guelph Line because of flooding!

Thursday 7 August: Auriel Halliday and Don Evans. Theme: South African wines from Stellenbosch region. Best wine: Nederburg Cabernet Sauvignon. Observation: LCBO doesn’t have much in the way of good South African whites – you have to travel to find the good stuff!

Monday 11 August: Julie and John Flynn. Theme: Summer “slurping” wines from several Canadian regions. Best wine: Malivore Gamay (which was the only one that was not really a “slurping” wine).

Our September tastings are:

- Thursday 4th September:
Patricia and Ron Flannagan.
- Monday 8th September:
Joanne and Ron Millichamp 🇺🇸

Dear Grapenutters:

Here’s the information about our tastings.

After receiving the email from me, decide which of the tastings you would like to go to, and call or email the hosts directly, if possible by 4 days before the tasting, to allow the hosts to get ready and also notify you ahead of time about the cost per person. The hosts decide the wine “theme” of the evening.

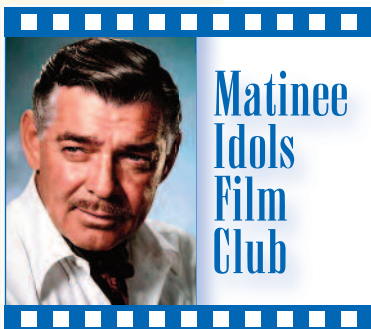

If more people wish to participate in a tasting than the host can comfortably accommodate, the host should decline, but let me know how many have to be turned away - this will become an indication that we should add a third group each month.

On occasion you may have to forego attending a wine tasting that you have put your name down for. These things happen – illness or whatever.

If this happens would you please let the host know as soon as possible. And if the host has already advised members of the cost of the tasting, I think it’s reasonable that you would arrange to reimburse the host for your share, so the host is not out of pocket. 🇺🇸

Oscar Nights
 FILM CLUB

By Jeanne Reid - Social Chair

The Matinee Idols film club will be starting in September to attend afternoon movies and usually a dinner afterwards. I thought “Boyhood” would be a good movie to start. It is the story of a 6-year-old boy filmed over 12 years with the same cast.

This is a ground-breaking movie and has been highly rated by reviewers. It stars Ethan Hawke and Patricia Arquette. I think it is a movie that should not be missed.

We could try for Thursday September 4 at 2:15 pm at the Winston Churchill Theatre with dinner afterward. 🇺🇸

Introducing, Robyn Balfour, the Director, Producer and Convenor of the Escarpment Probus Oscar Nights Movie Club.

Be sure to sign up for the email list for the next movie, also when and where to meet.

FOOTLOOSE THE MUSICAL

Planning now for October
At the St. Jacobs Country Playhouse

One of the most explosive movie musicals in recent memory bursts onto the St. Jacobs stage with exhilarating results.

A young rebel moves to a small middle-American town where dance is forbidden and encourages all young people to defy the strict edict of local pastor and call for a rock 'n roll party.

The St. Jacobs Country Playhouse is conveniently located in the heart of St. Jacobs Country. A converted Cider and Winery, this 400-seat theatre retains the turn-of-the-century masonry and heavy timber character associated with the traditional Mennonite lifestyle.

Zoomer Bloomers!

A unique garden visited

By Gloria Pennycook - Convenor

As you can see, the Garden Club is now known as the "Zoomer Bloomers" The Zoomers went to visit Lost Horizon, organized by Sigrid Byrne.

It is a very unique garden centre with many unusual varieties of plants. Well worth considering

www.LostHorizons.ca

if you are looking for something different.

On Sept 10 at 1pm, we will be going to Crawfords, another garden centre in Milton. We are hoping to make a fall flower arrangement or at least learn how to make one. Christy Babcock is organizing this outing.

Elinore Shannon was kind enough to host everyone at her house in August and will do so again in September.

On October 10, Jim McConvey will lead a fall walk around the old town of Milton to see the colours as well as the fall flowers.

If anyone is interested in joining either the September or October gatherings, please let me know at gpennycook@icloud.com.

Happy gardening. 🇺🇸

Come out and enjoy lunch with your new friends...

By Catherine Parr - Conventor

Following our Probud meeting on Wednesday, August 20th, twenty-six of us met up at The Rad Brothers for lunch with a twist on traditional pub food.

It really is great getting to know our fellow members over a bite after our meetings. Come out and join in the fun!

On September 17th, I thought we would take a break from pub fare. I have made our lunch reservations at Portabello's Pizza and Eatery located in a small plaza at Derry Road and Trudeau.

A delightful variety of pizza and pasta dishes are on the menu with many vegetarian choices available. The personal size (10 inch) specialty pizzas are priced from $10.95 to $12.95. The Roasted Parmesan Grilled Veggie sounds tasty, as does the Meat Lover.

Sandwiches, Wraps and Salads are also on the menu. Veal and Chicken Parmigiana are tempting sandwiches although the Spinach salad might be kinder to my hips. These dishes range between $10.25 and $11.25. Appetizers and classic Entrees round out the lunch menu.

Nordic Pole Walking . . . a way of "life"

By Liz Read - Activities Chair

Our August speaker, Ginger Quinn, had an effective presentation on the benefits of Nordic Pole walking for all ages and abilities.

We found ourselves nodding in agreement as she stressed that "mobility is the key to quality of life in retirement". We also found ourselves sitting up straighter as she demonstrated her good posture, thanks to walking with the poles. Nordic Pole Walking uses 90% of our muscles but at the same time is easy on our joints.

Over 50 people decided to try out the poles for themselves a week after the meeting.

Ginger met two groups of Probus members at the Milton Mill Pond, handed out poles and taught us the techniques of walking smoothly using them. A beverage break at Coffee Time gave us an opportunity to make further plans using this equipment.

Many members purchased their own walking poles and are hoping to form a Probus Nordic Walking Club. We're looking for someone to be the convenor. All you need to do is decide on a day of the week, a time and a place to meet.

The Milton Sports Centre walking track is a venue for year round Nordic pole walking. 🇺🇸

Evening Euchre Club

Evening Euchre Club up and running

By Christy Babcock - Convenor

Evening Euchre Club took the summer off and is ready to resume. Although we originally chose the second Thursday of the month this month, due to hosting issues, the Euchre Night has been changed to Thursday, September 18th at 7:00pm.

Sigrid Burn and Sheila Webster are hosting.

Please e-mail Sigrid at sigrid99@rogers.com to confirm your attendance and to obtain directions. 📍

Ginger Quin, our August speaker on Nordic walking, generously donated two valuable prizes for inclusion in our 50/50 draw. The winners were: Top, Joy Costello won the Nordic Poles and below, Liz Read won the pedometer.

Congratulation ladies and thank you Ginger. 📍
